

Law School Report 2024

July 1, 2024

We are pleased to present your results from the 2024 administration of the Law School Survey of Student Engagement (LSSSE). More than 13,000 law students from 71 law schools in the U.S. responded to the survey. This data will provide insights into the past year to help improve legal education moving forward.

Your 2024 Law School Report is a completely electronic version. This PDF includes bookmarks and hyperlinks throughout to help navigate your reports. Additionally, you will find your reports accessible online from the secure LSSSE interface. The Table of Contents provides instructions for accessing these documents on the interface.

Your 2024 Law School Report includes several reports analyzing your LSSSE data.

- The Executive Summary Reports section includes reports that highlight salient aspects of your school's data:
  - The Executive Snapshot Report identifies the questions on which your results are highest and lowest in comparison with your peer group of law schools, and also presents several additional key findings from your school's data.
  - The Engagement Indicators Report analyzes your data around four general themes: 1) learning to think like a lawyer, 2) student-faculty interaction, 3) student advising, and 4) law school environment. Each theme is presented in comparison to your selected peer groups and to all LSSSE 2023 & 2024 schools.
  - The Dashboard Reports visualizes your data in areas in clusters to make results easy to understand and share at your law school: 1) Student Services, 2) Student-Faculty Interaction, 3) Accreditation Report, 4) Longitudinal Data Report.
- The sections following the Executive Summary Reports tab focus on each individual survey question and the overall representativeness of your results this year:
  - The Administration Details section includes information about the students who responded to the LSSSE survey and your peer comparison groups.
  - The Mean Comparisons Report compares the average response of students at your law school to that of several comparison groups, including the peer schools you selected and all LSSSE 2023 & 2024 schools. It also breaks out responses by students' year in law school.
  - The Frequency Distributions Report presents the number and percent of respondents for each question and response option, again organized by students' year in law school.

After you review this report, more can be learned from additional analyses of your data. We would be glad to help you further analyze the data to fit your needs or to answer any questions you may have.

Thank you for participating in LSSSE 2024, and for contributing to this broad-based effort to learn more about students in legal education. We look forward to working with you in the years to come.

Best wishes,

A Guide to Your LSSSE Report

This Guide takes you step-by-step through each section of the 2024 Law School Report and offers guidance on interpreting your LSSSE results and analytical reports.

ADMINISTRATION DETAILS

The Administration Details section includes information about the students who responded to the LSSSE survey and your comparison groups.

Respondent Profile

The Respondent Profile includes information about the students who responded to the survey and their representativeness of the entire student body.

Selected Comparison Groups

The Selected Comparison Groups report details each of your comparison groups and, if applicable, any additional comparisons associated with module items.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY REPORTS

The Executive Summary Reports section contains reports which highlight key findings for your law school and provide the best framework for getting oriented to the components of the Law School Report and interpreting your results.

Executive Snapshot Report

The Snapshot Report is a summary of your law school's key findings such as the most and least favorable comparisons of your law school and your selected peer group, and information related to classroom engagement, student satisfaction and student gains.

Dashboard Reports

The Dashboard Reports visualizes your data in areas in clusters to make results easy to understand and share at your law school: 1) Student Services, 2) Student-Faculty Interaction, 3) Accreditation Report, 4) Longitudinal Data Report.

Engagement Indicators Report

The Engagement Indicators Report analyzes your data around four central themes:

Learning to Think Like a Lawyer – To what extent do your students report that their courses emphasize critical and analytical thinking?

Student-Faculty Interaction – How do your students interact with faculty in matters both related and unrelated to classes and assignments?

Student Advising – How satisfied are your students with several areas of advisory services?

Law School Environment – How do your students perceive the law school environment and their “fit” in that environment?

Each theme is presented in comparison to your peer group and to all LSSSE 2023 and 2024 schools

SHARE YOUR RESULTS

The Snapshot and Engagement Indicators reports are easy to share with various segments of your law school community. The LSSSE PowerPoint, accessible online via the Interface, provides slides that align with the graphs and information found in these two reports. The PowerPoint makes it easier to enter information from your results and to share and disseminate the findings.

DIG DEEPER INTO THE RESULTS

After consulting the Executive Summary Reports you may have more specific questions about individual items differences or patterns of items driving overall results. The Frequency Distributions and Mean Comparisons reports give complete descriptive and statistical details for all survey questions, allowing you to examine your performance on specific items of interest as well as patterns of similarity and differences between students at your law school and at comparison group law schools.

FREQUENCY DISTRIBUTIONS & MEAN COMPARISONS

Frequency Distributions Report

The Frequency Distributions Report shows how students responded to each survey question, including the number and percentage associated with each option.

The Frequency Distributions Report is an excellent source for exploring questions such as: How many students responded “never” to a particular question and how that compares with students at your comparison group institutions. Do more 1Ls than 3Ls spend time working with other students in class? How many students frequently discuss assignments with faculty outside of class? How much time do most students devote to co-curricular activities?

Mean Comparisons Report

The Mean Comparisons Report provides the mean (average) score for each survey item and statistical tests, including effect sizes, which can be used to assess the relative magnitude and importance of response differences. This allows you to identify whether or not the differences in the survey estimates reflect underlying differences between populations and how meaningful those differences are.

HELPFUL TIP

LSSSE analysts often combine the top two response options to generate a more general understanding of students’ responses. This may be useful in your review of the Frequency Distributions Report. Compare this information to your peer groups and to the results from earlier years when your school participated in LSSSE to gain insight into trends over time.

ONLINE RESOURCES

This Law School Report contains only part of the information that LSSSE provides. Additional resources available online also will be helpful in understanding and using your results.

LSSSE participating law schools regularly share portions of the information in their Law School Report with faculty, staff, students and alumni. The following User Tools, available on the LSSSE interface, are intended to facilitate sharing.

Using LSSSE Data – This highlights the various ways in which other law schools have used their LSSSE results and provides an overview of approaches to data analysis.

Sample PowerPoint Presentation – A customizable PowerPoint template to share your school’s results and to stimulate discussion about them.

Accreditation Toolkit – Suggests ways to map specific questions from the survey onto ABA accreditation standards. This also includes sample timelines to help you decide when and how often to collect student engagement data.

Predict your LSSSE Results – This is an easy way to engage your audience when presenting LSSSE results; it highlights differences between audience assumptions and your students’ responses.

DOWNLOAD YOUR REPORTS

2024 Engagement Indicators: LSSSEville Law School

---

LSSSE Engagement Indicators: A Summary Report

This report presents analyses of four general themes – Engagement Indicators – from your LSSSE survey data:

- Learning to Think Like a Lawyer – To what extent do your students report that their courses emphasize critical and analytical thinking?
- Student-Faculty Interaction – How do your students interact with faculty in matters both related and unrelated to classes and assignments?
- Student Advising – How satisfied are your students with several areas of advisory services?
- Law School Environment – How do your students perceive the law school environment and their “fit” in that environment?

Each Engagement Indicator is a combination of several individual survey questions that are related to one another conceptually and statistically.<sup>a</sup> The individual questions included in an Engagement Indicator address slightly different aspects of a common theme. When combined, the score provides a more complete and concise assessment of the central theme than any individual question standing alone. This approach also reduces the likelihood of relying too heavily on any individual survey question.

Engagement Indicators are meaningful as comparisons, both within your school and in relation to external groups. In the following pages, your students’ Engagement Indicators are compared statistically to those of two comparison groups. If you only customized one comparison group, your second comparison group is the entire LSSSE 2023 & 2024 cohort. In addition, responses from the individual survey questions that make up each Indicator are presented. Our hope is that these results will prove useful in identifying areas of success as well as any that may warrant attention.

To facilitate comparisons, each Engagement Indicator is expressed on a 50-point scale. Keep in mind that because the score is the average of all students’ responses to several questions, it would be most unusual for any score to approach 50. In order to reach a score of 50, all students would have to select the highest response option for all component questions.

As always in interpreting LSSSE results, your school should take into account its unique mission, purpose and profile. The Engagement Indicators are not intended to facilitate rankings. Rather, they provide a context for understanding students’ engagement in law school and identifying opportunities for improving students’ experiences.

For details on interpreting the components of this report, see page 8.

a. See <https://lssse.indiana.edu/wp-content/uploads/statisticalproperties.pdf> for more information about the statistical properties of the Engagement Indicators.

Interpreting the Engagement Indicators

Means Means are reported for 1L, 2L and 3L students. The mean is the arithmetic average of student level Engagement Indicators. Information about students' year in law school is derived from information provided by the law school, if available; otherwise, this is based on information provided by students in their LSSSE responses.

Effect Size Effect size indicates the practical significance of the mean difference. It is calculated by dividing the mean difference by the pooled standard deviation. In practice, an effect size of 0.2 is often considered small, 0.5 moderate and 0.8 large. A positive sign indicates that your school's mean was greater, thus showing an affirmative result for the school. A negative sign indicates your school lags behind the comparison group, and, depending on the questions, this may suggest that the student behavior or school practice addressed in the question may warrant attention.

Statistical Significance Engagement Indicators with mean differences that are larger than would be expected by chance alone are noted with one, two or three asterisks, denoting one of three significance levels ( $p < .05$ ,  $p < .01$  and  $p < .001$ ). The smaller the significance level, the smaller the likelihood that the difference was due to chance. Please note that statistical significance does not guarantee that the result is substantive or important. Large sample sizes (as with the LSSSE project) tend to produce more statistically significant results even though the magnitude of mean differences may be inconsequential. It is recommended to consult effect sizes to judge the practical meaning of the results.

Dashboard Reports Overview

The Dashboard Reports provide a quick and effective way to dig into your LSSSE data. Each average score at LSSSEville Law School is compared to scores of all schools that participated in LSSSE in 2024. Average scores are reported for eight different groups (All Students, 1Ls, 2Ls, 3Ls, Women, Men, Student of Color, White Students.)

Data visualization highlights trends and patterns at your law school—A color map emphasizes when your school's average score falls within: the highest 10%, the highest 25%, the middle 50%, the bottom 25% and the bottom 10% of all schools. Quickly scan your LSSSE results to identify areas of strength and improvement to help inform subsequent strategic planning.

Questions to ask:

Are students or groups of students under or over performing compared to your peers on all items or just a few?

What bright spots do you observe? Scan the tables in search of two patterns: (1) rows composed largely or entirely of green cells, reflecting a key strength; and (2) rows composed largely or entirely of yellow cells, reflecting an area for improvement. Then try to understand “bright spots” – that is, a green cell or two in a row that is otherwise painted gray and yellow.

Accreditation Report Overview

ABA Standards and LSSSE Recent changes to ABA Standards require law schools to establish and monitor student learning outcomes.<sup>1</sup> One method schools can use to measure the degree to which students have attained these learning outcomes is through students' self-reported perceptions and evaluations.<sup>2</sup> By analyzing student responses to the 2024 LSSSE Survey, this report provides law school administrators, faculty and staff at LSSSEville Law School with information they can use in the accreditation process. The results are organized into three broad categories that reflect core themes in the ABA Standards and Interpretations: (1) Diversity and Inclusion; (2) Program of Legal Education; and (3) Law School Resources.

Each average score is compared against all schools that participated in LSSSE in 2024. When your school's average score falls within the highest 10% of all schools, it is highlighted in dark green. Scores in the highest 25% of all schools are highlighted in light green, scores that fall in the middle 50% in gray, scores that fall in the bottom 25% in light yellow, and scores that fall in the bottom 10% in dark yellow.

<sup>1</sup> Standard 315: "The dean and the faculty of a law school shall conduct ongoing evaluation of the law school's program of legal education, learning outcomes, and assessment methods; and shall use the results of this evaluation to determine the degree of student attainment of competency in the learning outcomes and to make appropriate changes to improve the curriculum."

MEAN COMPARISONS

Interpreting the Mean Comparisons Report

The Mean Comparisons Report provides the mean (average) score for each survey item and statistical comparisons that allow you to examine patterns of similarity and difference between your students and your comparison group law schools.

1. Individual questions appear in the same order and wording as the online survey.

2. Class: Responses to each item are reported for 1L, 2L, 3L and 4L students.

3. Variable name: Short-hand reference we use in reporting your data. The same variable name is used in your raw data file. Refer to the LSSSE Codebook, available on the LSSSE Interface, for a complete list of variable names along with the full survey question.

4. Mean: The mean is the arithmetic average of student responses on a particular item or question. Means are provided for your law school, selected comparison groups and for the entire LSSSE 2023 & 2024 cohort. Please note: your law school's data has not been included in the comparison group columns.

5. Sig: The statistical significance - Items with mean differences that are larger than would be expected by chance alone are noted with asterisks, referring to three significance levels (* $p < .05$ , ** $p < .01$ , and *** $p < .001$ ). The smaller the significance level, the smaller the likelihood that the difference is due to chance. Statistical significance does not guarantee that the result is substantive or important. Large sample sizes (like those produced by LSSSE) tend to produce more statistically significant results even though the magnitude of mean differences may be inconsequential. Consult effect sizes to make judgments about the practical meaning of the results.

6. Effect size indicates the “practical significance” of the mean difference: that is, how likely it is that the results are pointing to something that represents a “real” difference in the student or law school behavior represented by the item. Effect size is calculated by dividing the mean difference by the standard deviation of the group with which the law school is being compared (i.e., selected comparison groups or the entire LSSSE 2023 & 2024 cohort). In practice, an effect size of .2 is often considered small, .5 moderate, and .8 large. A positive effect size indicates that your law school's mean was greater than the comparison group. A negative sign may indicate an area that warrants further investigation.

FREQUENCY DISTRIBUTIONS

Interpreting the Frequency Distributions Report

The Frequency Distributions Report shows how students responded to each survey question, including the number and percentage associated with each option. The first section presents this information by class at your school. The second section reports frequencies separately for each class and provides comparisons with your peer groups and the entire LSSSE 2023 & 2024 cohort.

1. Individual questions appear in the same order and wording as the online survey.

2. Class: Responses to each item are reported for 1L, 2L, 3L and 4L students.

3. Variable name: Short-hand reference we use in reporting your data. The same variable name is used in your raw data file. Refer to the LSSSE Codebook, available on the LSSSE Interface, for a complete list of variable names along with the full survey question.

Student Comments 2024

LSSSEville Law School

The final page of the LSSSE survey asked students to respond to the following question in an open text box:

“If you have any additional comments or feedback that you’d like to share on the quality of your educational experience, please type them below. Please note: comments will be sent to the school as written. Though your comments will not be tied to your survey responses, if you wish to remain anonymous please do not include self-identifying information (name, position in student organization(s), etc.).”

Important:

- Anonymous student responses to this question appear on the following pages. Because student comments are anonymous, student identifiers are not given in this report.
- These comments appear exactly as the students entered them and may not be suitable for distribution without prior review. Faculty members, administrators, or other students may be mentioned by name, and comments were not edited for grammar, offensive language, excessive length, or otherwise questionable content.
- Comments are aggregated by class. Information for this variable was provided by your institution and students.

Interpreting the Student Comments Report

The last page of the LSSSE survey provides an open-ended section for students to write in additional comments.

All responses are reported by class for 1L, 2L, 3L and 4L (if applicable at your law school) students. Due to the more personal nature of some comments, write-in comments are reported anonymously. These comments are not included in your electronic student data file.

Things to Think About

There are several things to think about as you examine your Student Comments report.

- 1. Understand the purpose of open-ended questions. Open-ended questions often are used as a means of generating ideas in research. Do the comments in your report raise any issues that you might want to further explore?
- 2. It is unclear whether your student comments are representative. Because demographic information is not provided for written comments, the report does not indicate whether these comments are representative of your law student population.
- 3. A small portion of students submit write-in comments. Considering the average institutional response rate, student comments represent about one-tenth of law students at most participating schools.
- 4. Look for patterns of responses. If your students' comments describe consistent areas of concern or strength, additional investigation may be warranted. Results from LSSSE survey questions might provide additional perspectives to understand and interpret student comments.
- 5. Link results to other information about the student experience and complementary initiatives. The positive impact of student engagement results can be enhanced when made relevant to students and faculty. Student comments from LSSSE can serve as touchstones for more in-depth discussions about the student experience with smaller focus groups.

1L Comments

My experience at LSSSEville was excellent, but in the end I still wish I had more time to take advantage of the many learning opportunities I feel I missed, or did not have enough time to do.

The school needs to improve its intellectual property courses, especially patent related courses. They are really below my expectation. Without good IP courses, the school cannot survive.

The Placement Office does not provide concrete interview opportunities.

The standards for admission are not as strict as I would assume from a school of LSSSEville's reputation.

The rules and policies of the current administration should be more proactive rather than being reactive only.

My law school needs more women to be adequately diverse.

Excellent quality of first year professors. Exams are challenging.

I prefer smaller class sizes.

I wish I would have known how difficult law school would have been before I attended.

This school needs lots of work to meet my expectations.

I appreciate that LSSSEville encourages ethical and responsible lawyers.

I am completely happy with the school, the faculty's and administration's dedication to the school's and the student's well being.

I have learned a lot from my lecture classes.

This school needs better Bar Exam preparation.

This school is more challenging than I expected.

I would not change much about this school. These 2 years have been a marvelous experience.

I really wish my school had focused more on schoolwide social events.

I do not remember my LSAT score.

LSSSEville is an excellent law school that has surpassed all my expectations. The faculty and administration are dedicated to providing a quality law curriculum and molding students into excellent

While the tradition of our school is important, I believe one of our weaknesses is our lack of diversity.

We need more parking.

Policy discussions are too boring. We need coffee bars in the lecture halls.

All written memos and briefs should be anonymous grading.

I adore LSSSEville and cannot imagine myself anywhere else.

The coursework is academically challenging and the instructors are intellectually stimulating.
